

Sophomore Survival Skills for College Admissions

Skills and planning tips to prepare for the college admissions process.

Review Your Course Plan

- Meet with your guidance counselor.
- Compare your course plan to the admission requirements of your preferred college or colleges.
- Consider courses that will give you college credit.
- Add dual credit (concurrent credit) courses to your course plan.
- Consider taking Pre-AP Courses.

Check into Admission Tests

- Explore the PSAT/NMSQT and SAT <https://www.collegeboard.org>
- Look for information about the ACT test at <http://act.org/>
- Another ACT website with great information on college planning, financial aid, test prep, and practice test questions is:
<https://www.act.org/content/act/en/products-and-services/the-act.html>

Continue to Work Hard in Your Classes

- Grades do matter. Admission offices look at the whole high school transcript. Also remember that not all grades are considered equally.
- Don't procrastinate.

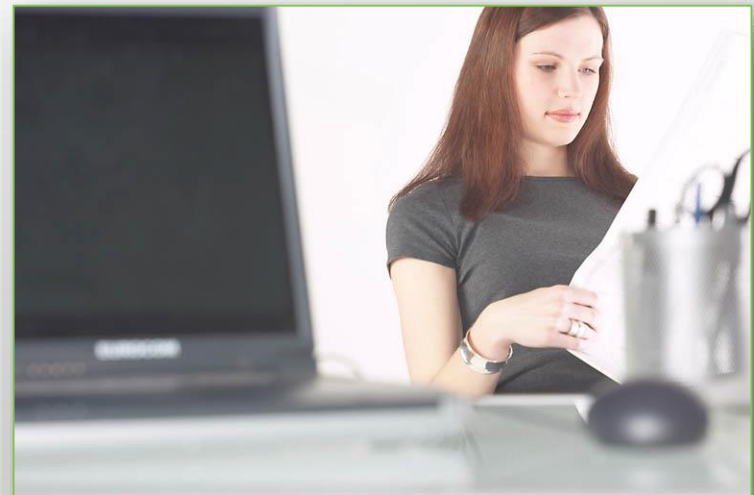

Use a “To Do” List or a Daily Planning Calendar

- Track your assignments and due dates.
- Allocate your time.
- Follow a daily schedule that includes time for homework, every day.
- If you need help—ASK!
- Keep your “College File” up to date with lists of your activities and honors.

Read. Read. Read.

- In your daily schedule set aside time to read.
- Stay on top of world events and news.

Research Colleges and Majors

- Identify colleges and majors that interest you.
- Start to narrow your list of colleges.
- A wealth of information is available on the internet at websites like:

<http://www.collegeforalltexas.com> - supported by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

<https://comptroller.texas.gov/programs/education/> -supported by Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation. Sponsored by the Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Scholarships

- Don't forget to look locally—Civic clubs, high school booster clubs and non-profit organizations.
- Do some leg work! The extra effort will pay off!
- Take advantage of free scholarships searches. Never pay for scholarship searches or financial aid advice.
- Search free at:
 - Adventures in Education <https://www.aie.org>
 - College Board <https://bigfuture.collegeboard.org/>

Web Resources:

- Adventures in Education, Trellis supported site—<https://www.AIE.org>—FAFSA information, calculators, financial aid calendar, email weekly newsletter, FREE scholarship search, web resources, state resources, check lists, and planning guides.
- Also powered by AIE—<http://going2college.org>-contains excellent information on college planning, career information, finding a college, and paying for college.

Web Resources, Continued

- Know How 2 Go— <http://www.knowhow2go.acenet.edu>
